For the prevention and cure o
BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended
HAHN's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of person can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficatious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir,

A sovereign remedy for colds, obstinate coughs, asthmas, sore throats, catarrhs, and approaching consumptions.—To parents who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, cheeks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative,

Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of Fifty Dollars Reward.

THERE came to the stables of the subscriber, on Monday the 1st inst. a person calling himself and obtained a horse and gig on hire; as he said, to go to Ellicott's Mills, and return in the afternoon of the same day; and as he has not yet returned, there is strong reason to believe that his intention is to swindle me out of my property. He is about 5 feet 8 or 9 inches high, apparently about 25 or 30 years of age, of genteel appearance, and well calculated to deceive.

The horse is a grey, about 15 hands high, 9 or 10 years old, has a switch tail, a speck on the right eye, and moves swiftly. The gig has a green body, carriage and wheels black, the lining of blue cloth, red stuff top, linings, plated double—outside joints.

I will give the above reward for the recovery of the horse and gig, and the detection of the scoundrel, or 20 dollars for the horse and gig only, and all reasonable expenses if delivered to me; No. 26, North Liberty street, Baltimore.

ORATION.

The day we celebrate—the propitious day that stamped the seal of liberty upon our country, awakens every latent principle of gratitude, for the bravery, the energy and perseverance of our fathers, whose valor and whose patriotism bequeathed us independence.

A retrospect of the days of '76, and the few subsequent years that have rolled away, brings to remembrance events so glorious, that we cannot but experience the proudest reflections. Our country, tho' but forty-three years a nation, is the acknowledged land of happiness—the asylum of the distressed—the only home of the free. The short space of less than half a century has seen us uplift an infant's arm, in the assertion of our rights as an independent nation—and struggling against a gigantic adversary, has witnessed our victories and our triumphs.

An infringement on the liberties and interests of the colonists in the passage of the stamp act, justly excited them to hostilities. If this law had been enforced—if the provinces were subjugated to so unreasonable a taxation, to support the extravagant policy of the English ministry, it is presumable there never would have been a termination of demands to assist the mother country in her ambitious views, or appropriations gleaned from the hard-earned labors of the provincials, to maintain the pomp of royal profligates, or ecclesiastical hypocrites. But our thanks and admiration are due to the firmness of the revolutionary patriots: not all the ingenuity of the cabinet of St. James, the intrigue of its creatures, nor the threatened vengeance of lord North, could constrain them to submit to the indignities of power or the usurpation of tyranny.

A resistance to the authorities of the crown, openly manifested at the memorable battle of Lexington, and the unprecedented valor of a PUTNAM, on the bloody heights of Bunker,

"Who, 'mid the whizzing deaths that fill the air,
"Waves back his sword, and dares the following war," were among the earlier scenes that evinced the determination of the colonists to throw off all allegiance to England—their resolution never to embrace the sceptre of a tyrant, nor become the vassals of a foreign or domestic potentate. Americans appreciated their own resources; they knew themselves to be an enterprizing people, dependant upon no foreign country for subsistence—and it was a noble and rational idea, to resolve on a total alienation from a connexion with a country whose policy was to glean from their industry a revenue, and from themselves an abject servitude.

On the memorable day whose anniversary we now commemorate, by a mutual communion of grateful hearts,

When the genius of liberty, pronounced the decree,
That Columbians are happy, independent and free—

when the sages of America reported the inimitable declaration which has just been read you,* and the sentiments of this document of liberty, whilst it astonished and confounded the ministry of England, excited the wondering admiration of an enslaved world.

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal," was a doctrine worthy the philosopher and the patriot from whose heart it emanated; and, to guarantee the enjoyment of a right so reasonable, the lives, the fortunes, and the sacred honor of Americans were pledged, as sacrifices at the altar of liberty.

In those days "that tried men's souls," whilst a Hancock, a Randolph, an Adams and an Ames were exerting the talents of the statesman, the sage, the philosopher and the orator, in vindicating upon the floor of congress an appeal to arms—heaven determined the selection of their general, and gave them as leader to their armies, the man, who, as the venerable Marshall so eloquently observes, "was first in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen."

WASHINGTON, the American Cincinnatus, obeyed with promptness the call of his injured country—fled the peaceful quiet of domestic felicity, and sought a virtuous glory, in the privations of the camp. There no skilful veterans awaited his approach—no formidable columns of inured soldiers to execute his commands; but he was greeted by the acclamations of patriots—he was cheered by their heart-felt resolutions to live with him as freemen, or die with him in defence of their common liberties.

A recapitulation of the valor and firmness of this band of patriots, whether we follow them to the icy provinces of Canada, where the sacred shade of Montgomery hovers; or mark their progress in the far distant Carolinas—this vast extent of country furnishes a thousand evidences of their bravery and their devotedness to the cause of freedom. Those monuments of patriotic gallantry, would point to you the deeds of Lincoln, Green, Mercer, Wayne, St. Clair, Stirling, Fayette, Lee—

"But who can tell the dew-drops of the morn?
"Or count the rays that in the diamond burn?"

The "unerring hand of Providence, that oft unseen protects the innocent," guided the American armies through the sanguinary conflict; and while our Washington was the terror of his enemies in the field—Adams and Hancock the champions of liberty in the senate—FRANKLIN in foreign courts, firm in the cause of his native country, by his wisdom and talents determined potentates to befriend us, and the nations of Europe to become our allies.

At the time of the ratification of the peace of 1783, the situation of our country was extremely critical.—Not a dollar in her coffers, and her citizens worn out by the hardships and privations of a protracted war; many of them were compelled to ramble from state to state, relying for subsistence on the bounty of those, for whose happiness they had braved the terrors of the field, and for whose liberties they had bled. The soldiers indignant at the conduct of congress, and in the impulse of the moment, excited by the mutinous spirit of a villanous emissary, only awaited the signal of their chief to rush upon the unprotected senators, and hurl them from their seats.—They only awaited the assent of Washington, to present him the diadem of their suffrages, and proclaim him their protector and sovereign. But did the father of his country prove himself ambitious?—In the hour of temptation did he yield to the weakness of his nature, or did he gloriously sacrifice the vanity of the man, for a more noble imitative of the attributes of the God! Oh yes, he dignified the name of the soldier with that of the citizen—no sceptre could tempt him—no diadem polute him. His countrymen extolled his virtues, and foreign nations applauded his disinterestedness.

The adoption of the federal constitution was a confirmation of that union, which places the American republic so eminently conspicuous in the history of nations. Contrasted with the boasted constitution of England, it reflects renewed honor on its illustrious framers. For a moment examine the governments of Rome, of Athens, and of Troy.—We remember them as republics but in name.—They lacked purity in their councils and freedom in their laws.—But the constitution of the United States is in every respect suitable for the government of a free and independent people. The executive is checked by congress—congress by the executive: congress again is checked in itself—the senate may overrule the house, and the house counteract the proceedings of the senate. We appeal to the history of the world to produce a code of laws more simple, and at the same time more firm and imposing on the affections of an enlightened nation, than this palladium of American liberties. The eloquent Mr. Phillips, in alluding to this subject, observes: "Who shall say, then, contemplating the past, that England, proud and potent as she is, may not one day be what Athens is, and the young America soar to be what Athens was? Happily, when the European column shall have mouldered, and the night of barbarism obscured its very ruins, that mighty continent may emerge from the horizon, to rule for its time, sovereign of the ascendant."

In hastily recapitulating the heroism of our Washington and his gallant associates in the field, together with the wisdom of Franklin, Adams, and their colleagues in the senate, we shall be pardoned in inviting a retrospection of the actions of our countrymen, in the late second struggle with Great Britain. How brilliant the page, how distinguished the annals, that proclaims to posterity the skill, the gallantry, the modesty and firmness of her Hull, Jones, Decatur, Bainbridge, Porter, Perry, M'Donough, Blakely, Warrington, Biddle and Stewart, the sons of freedom, who taught the proud, self-styled "Mistress of the Ocean," her wooden walls were not impregnable, her subjects were not invincible.

Lawrence, whose generous bosom sympathized with the distresses of a vanquished enemy—his deeds are recorded in living characters upon our hearts; his noble mind, unknown to fear, and absorbed only in the glory of his country, in the confusion of the battle, when the fates had declared against him, and the hero had fallen, his gallant soul breathed the sentiment which has become the watchword of his countrymen—"Dont give up the ship."

Burrows, who lived but to die on the cross of Britain; the toils of his life were sweetened by the glory of his death: and Allen, tho' unfortunate, his enemies acknowledge his bravery, his countrymen appreciate his loss.

The falls of Niagara echo the valour of our armies—the plains of Chippewa are mementoes of its victories. York, tho' she robbed us of a Pike, studded the hero's memory with an imperishable gem. Queenston added another trophy to our arms—the turrets of Malden were surmounted with the American eagle—and the star spangled banner waved in proud triumph upon the walls of Fort George. Sackett's-Harbour was defended victoriously—Sandusky proclaimed the valour of the youthful Croghan—Plattsburgh and Baltimore chastized the insolence of the invader, whilst the field of Orleans evinced to the world, that Americans, tho' unaided by experience in warfare, were not to be trampled upon by the slave, or yield their soil of freedom, even when opposed to the bayonets of the veterans of a Wellington.

Our country in her present situation, presents an example to the world, of the simplicity and happiness of a Republic; and the surviving statesmen and soldiers of the revolution must descend to the silent grave, in the peaceful satisfaction of witnessing a nation's felicity.

Our intercourse with foreign nations is honourable and amicable, and the striped bunting, emblem of our commerce, waves almost the ascendent in every clime. Emigration continues with unabated vigour to this home of the oppressed, this asylum of the exile. Our domestic affairs are highly felicitous—The western wilds are becoming the seats of commerce, of the arts and of the sciences. The beautiful valley of the Ohio, but lately the haunt of the savage, is now beautified by the embellishments of wealth, and the charms of taste, and populous cities and towns have arisen whose scites but the other day, were immured in the gloom of the forest. The wide waters of the bolder Mississippi are whitened with the canvass of the trader, and the mementoes of the genius of Fulton, ascend and descend this majestic stream, facilitating the operations and adding to the wealth of the industrious and enterprising merchant.—Party rage has happily subsided, and all unite in the wisdom and patriotism of our present chief magistrate, and we may draw the happy inference, that never was there an anniversary of American Independence celebrated under auspices, more gratifying to our hearts, or replete with the happiest consequences to our beloved country.

May we ever continue a free and happy people: may ages yet unborn inherit the principles, and glory in the professions of freemen, and, as Mr. Phillips exclaims—"When the temple and the trophy shall have mouldered into dust, when the glories of our name shall be but the legend of tradition, philosophy may rise again in the sky of her Franklin, and glory rekindle at the urn of her Washington. Happy, proud America, the lightnings of Heaven could not resist your sage, the temptations of earth could not corrupt your soldier."

THE PRIZE DIVIDED.

The stationary prize of Twenty Thousand Dollars drawn yesterday afternoon in the Medical College Lottery, came up to No. 6780. It gives us pleasure to learn that it is owned in shares; three-fourths by residents in this city, and the remaining fourth by a gentleman in Alexandria. The fortunate Nos. were obtained at COHEN's Office.

An alligator, nearly two feet in length, was caught in Coffee House slip, New-York, on Friday, 3d inst.

A gentleman who arrived in this city a day or two ago from Alabama territory, informs us, that about the 14th of June last, he entered the west side of the tract of country claimed by the Cherokee nation of Indians, on the Warrior road, and travelled through to the east. The Indians appeared friendly; the half-breeds not hostile, but more sour and unsocial than he had expected to find them. The whites who reside among them were also generally unaccommodating. To one of the whites who appeared more pleasant and communicative than the others, our informant remarked that the half-breeds did not manifest that friendly social disposition towards their white brethren sojourning through the nation, that they have been celebrated for by some travellers; he replied that the half-breeds had generally selected lands and opened farms, from which they realized considerable profits annually, and that the white people, as well as the half-breeds, were dissatisfied at the almost certain prospect of the Cherokee country being given in exchange to the United States for lands west of the Mississippi River, at a treaty which was to have commenced on the 24th ult. at Highwassie. [Nat. Intel. July 9.

A GOOD EXAMPLE.

At a meeting of inhabitants from several townships in Delaware County, Pennsylvania, the following resolution was passed.

Resolved, That we will discourage the use of ardent spirits, as an article of drink. We will not procure, use, or give it to others as such, in the time of gathering our hay and harvest, at the raising of buildings, or any other public or social occasions.

SEA SERPENT OFF PORTLAND.

On Saturday morning the 27th ult. about ten o'clock, Mr. Jonathan Webber and Richard Hamilton were bound on the fishing ground from Chebeague to Green Island in this bay; about seven miles from Portland they discovered about one quarter of a mile from land, between Crotch Island Point and Marsh Island, the Sea Serpent. Being in a row boat, they state that they were within about 100 yards of him. The snake lay motionless and appeared to be in three coils, his tail and head extended about 20 feet from the coils; his tail was similar to that of an eel—the protuberances on his back were about the size of a barrel; his body about 3 feet in diameter; his color black—the size of the coils were to appearance about 20 feet in diameter. They left him in this motionless state.

From a Quebec paper of June 22.

After resting in peace forty-two years, within the walls and under the sod of this garrison, the skeleton of General Montgomery, who fell in an assault on the Lower Town, on the 31st of December 1775, was on Saturday last, raised from the place of its deposit, and took its departure for N. York—where it is destined to a more distinguished place of interment in the church of St. Paul, in that place.

From the N. York Commercial Advertiser.

Extract of a letter from a gentleman in Plymouth, Eng. to his friend in this city, dated May 14th, 1818.

"We are in great bustle, fitting out the guard ships for a cruize in the channel.—The Prince Regent is expected here in the month of June. Orders have been received from the Navy Board to complete with all possible despatch the stern of the line of battle ship Kent, building at our dock yard. This vessel has a round stern, and I have no doubt, that every seaman will give the decided preference to this mode of building. In an engagement the round stern can bring eight guns to bear upon the same angle.

"The Iphiginia Frigate is also fitting out in the most superb style. This Frigate is to convey the Duke of Richmond, his family and suit to Quebec. The upper deck has elegant apartments as far forward as the main-mast; the pannels are covered with moreen, of a faun colour; the mouldings and pilasters superbly gilded; the head and stern are to be the same. The doors are all mahogany.

"In addition to the two Frigates now building here, four others are ordered to be commenced immediately; they are to carry upwards of fifty guns each.

"A new military exercise has been established. The 38th and 90th, two regiments, ordered for Canada, made trial of this new mode on Saturday. The bayonets were fitted with cork, which were previously burnt. The soldiers were in their white undress. They were ordered to charge; the 38th, which charged in the old way, became so irritated from the decided advantage the 99th had over them, that the officers were obliged to interfere. The result was, that the 38th had from three to five black spots on each man, while the 90th left the field without being touched. The new mode enables the soldier to reach his man one foot farther than on the old plan."

From the Baltimore American.

Extract of a letter from a Baltimorean now in Sweden, dated Stockholm, May 4, 1818.

"We are now on tip-toe for the coronation, which will take place in seven days. The ceremony will be very imposing and very magnificent. Among other customs peculiar to this kingdom, I must mention one: The procession from the Chateau to the Cathedral is on horse back—the horse the king rides is never afterwards mounted on any occasion whatever. We went today to see him; he has been brought down from one of the royal studs, and is one of the most beautiful animals that fancy can paint—Perfectly white, with a tail touching the ground, and a mane hanging 12 inches below his neck, which looks like a rich bed of silver, so purely white, and so perfectly neat and polished are they. This favored animal will pass the rest of his life pampered with every care, and only exercised for his health. The horse which the late king rode at his coronation, is now living, and is 30 years old. He is at one of the royal Haras from which this beautiful creature was brought. The third day after the coronation, the king receives the homage of the nation in the open air. Immense scaffoldings are erected in front of the palace, and it will be a very grand spectacle. How simple, my dear friends, and how much more wise are our plain usages at home! How much more happy, free and independent our people are, any observing man must soon perceive by visiting, with a comparing eye, any, even the best of the states of Europe! It is because our usages and our morals, derived from our sound, just and equal institutions, are simple, that we are more independent and more happy. God grant that our institutions may remain as pure as they now are: and I was near adding, may God curse the man who may ever attempt to corrupt, by assimilating them to the unequal, vicious and oppressive systems by which the European world has always been governed. Systems invented by the few to keep in utter degradation and distress, their fellow men! Systems which answer this purpose, and which do and which ever will oppress mankind, and elevate a favored and a privileged portion of it."

—"Like unto an householder which went out early in the morning."

In seaching for a motto to usher in my weekly speculations, I quote from a book, which, besides containing the golden maxims of divine inspiration, offers a rich treat to the scholar, and possesses beauties to please the most fastidious taste. In glancing over its pages, the most indifferent reader is frequently delighted, at finding unexpectedly, the noblest thoughts cloathed in a neatness and elegance of diction rarely found; the fancy of the poet is regaled with the most gorgeous imagery; and the worldly mind discovers practical lessons, suited to every capacity, and pointing a plain and easy path to wealth, cheerfulness and content.

I have hitherto been numbered among those, who neglectful of the healthful breeze and the genial sun-beams of the morning, are content

"To lie in dead oblivion, losing half
The fleeting moments of too short a life,
——When every muse,
And every blooming pleasure, wait without,
To bless the wildly devious morning walk."

It was not easy to convince me, that the smiling face of nature, could exhibit any charms, to compensate for the loss of the luxurious slumbers of the morning, or the unreal visions of an idle fancy. I could see no harm in that which was an enjoyment to myself, and affected no one else; asleep, I injured not myself, for I was inactive, nor my neighbor, for I was harmless.

But, "as man is born to trouble," so he who expects to recline in careless ease, or thoughtless security, will ever be convinced at last, of the futility of his anticipations, and will find that pain is always engrafted on the stock of pleasure, and thorns profusely strewed among the choicest flowers. The prevalence of vice and misfortune, and the difficulty of attaining to any real or permanent happiness in this world, have ever been subjects of complaint. Wherever we look around us, we see the traces of misfortune, and hear the querrulous voice of discontent. The finger of scorn is ever pointing at some object of pity or derision, and each affords the gossip some new tale, replete with vice, folly and misfortune. There is no man so happy as not to be sometimes a prey to vexation, need, or disappointment—and but few who can bear these evils with patience or resignation.—Life is a rugged path, beset with dangers, and the wanderer who pursues its devious course must pass over many inequalities; sometimes he sees a steep acclivity before him, and sometimes finds the treacherous soil receding from beneath his weary feat; he is opposed by the strong arm of power, the insidious snares of malice, and the cunning wiles of hypocrisy. But while we depreciate the many evils inseparable from human frailty, we are apt to forget how much the burthen is increased by our own faults and follies. Our passions can seldom be gratified but at the expense of our own ultimate happiness, or of the feelings, or the interest of others; and the man who luxuriates in the selfish enjoyment of forbidden pleasures, unthinking blasts his own happiness, poisons the cup that his friend must share, and bequeaths his sins, his miseries, and his misfortunes, together, to his posterity. Indeed, we are so closely connected to each other by the ties of consanguinity, of affection, or of interest, that there scarcely exists a wretch so solitary, as not to have some person whose interest may be affected by his misconduct.

We often see a respectable man, reduced to beggary, by an unfortunate connexion with dishonesty or improvidence; and we are sometimes exposed to shame, to anguish, or to danger, by the follies of our dearest friends. If these maxims are true, we are bound to industry, lest we should become burthensome to our connections to correctness of deportment, lest we should expose them to shame; our health is the property of posterity, who through us may inherit strength or weakness, and our virtues and talents belong to society, whose peace is disturbed by our misdemeanors, and whose welfare we are bound to promote.

Such were my reflections, a few mornings since, when seated on an eminence which overlooks the city. I contemplated upon the silence and security in which all appeared to be enveloped. The day had opened, and the winged moments were fleeting rapidly away, while thousands remained wrapped in unhealthful sleep. The sun was rising upon unconscious heads, and ripening the years of those who were buried in oblivion. The rich hues of the morning glowed unseen, and the most delicious banquet ever offered to a voluptuous imagination remained untasted. The protectors of innocence and of imbecility, forgot the hours of labor, and the parents of heroes and statesmen yet unborn, neglected to brace their nerves by healthful exercise. I could not help exclaiming with my favorite poet:

"Falsely luxurious will not man awake?
And springing from the bed of sloth enjoy
The cool, the fragrant, and the silent hour
To meditation due?"

If we are to consult the interest and happiness of others, as well as to endeavour to promote our own, the man who wastes his time or prostitutes his talents is delinquent towards both society and himself; and he who is ambitious of being either a wise, a virtuous, or an useful citizen, must commence by becoming an industrious man. He must gain health by exercise; competency, by laborious prudence, and cheerfulness, by profitable employment, honest recollections, and inspiring hopes; and to do this he cannot begin better than to rise

Public Sale of Negroes.

WILL be exposed at public sale, on the 24th inst. in the town of Leesburg, Loudoun county, Virginia, about 40 valuable slaves, among which are some excellent house servants, blacksmiths, carpenters, an excellent Virginia bread cook, and coachman, as well as plantation hands, women, girls, and boys, all of whom are likely and valuable.

As these servants have all been brought up in one family, it is desirable to the owner to sell them to one master; they will however, be sold in families, or separately, as far as is practicable—if this wish cannot be gratified. All or any of them may be purchased at private sale, previous to the day of public sale, by application to Wm. Brent, Jr. Richland, Stafford county, Va. or to TENCH RINGGOLD,
Washington City.

100 Dollars Reward,

FOR delivering to me, or securing in any jail in the United States, so that I get him again, a Negro man named HADON, who ran away on the 8th of September last.—Hadon is about 5 feet 7 or 8 inches high, 24 or 25 years of age, light complexion, (though black,) very likely; rather a down look; trim made, and very active. I purchased him of Col. Enoch Renoe, of Prince William county, where his mother and several brothers live—he has also relations near Leesburg, Loudoun county, where he was caught about the 1st of January, but made his escape—he has relations in Stafford county, the property of a Mr. Baty—he was seen in that neighborhood not long after he ran away, occasionally shifting his residence to avoid detection. I caution any person that may take him to be on his guard, as he has made his escape three times from his cunning and activity. CHARLES L. SEARS.
Fairfax co. Virginia, near the Occoquan mills, July 8.

N. B. This Negro has several relatives in Charles county, Maryland, in the neighborhood of Nanjemoy, belonging to a Mr. Renoe. 3t*

20 Dollars Reward,

FOR delivering to me or securing in Jail so that I get her again, a mulatto woman named FLORA, who run away on the 26th of June last. Flora is about 5 feet high, well made, large feet, good countenance, twenty four or five years old. She carried off with her, a girl child, 4 months old, and a variety of clothing, among them are a black silk dress—one buff calico—one domestic riding coat, nankeen colour—a new black fur hat. It is believed she was carried to Alexandria in the mail cart, and has since been seen there, and no doubt is concealed by the negroes of that place; whoever delivers the woman and child to me, or secures them in jail shall receive the above reward.

French Creek Boarding School.

The following is published for the information of Parents:

HAVING long believed that a School on a plan different from most others in many respects, would be beneficial to society, and apprehending that with all its cares, and the responsibility inseparable from such a concern, I could more cheerfully devote my time to the education of children than to any other business, I have concluded to establish a BOARDING SCHOOL for GIRLS.—With this view I have purchased the FRENCH CREEK FARM, four miles east of the yellow springs, on the Norristown and Philadelphia road, situated in Pikeland and Vincent townships, Chester county, twenty-seven miles from Philadelphia, combining many conveniencies for the support of such an institution; and having let the farm, etc. in a way calculated to supply the family with provisions, I propose to devote my attention, with the aid of suitable assistants, to the education of the children who may be placed under my care.

In selecting the pupils, it is not proposed to be governed entirely by their ages, nor to require that they shall all be members of the religious society of Friends; but as the school rules will be very few in number and very simple, it is my wish that none may be sent contrary to their own inclination, nor any one who would not be likely to be good examples to the other scholars, and treat them with kindness and affection.

The price for board and tuition will be two hundred Dollars per annum, one quarter always to be paid in advance—no restrictions respecting the kind of clothing are intended, nor respecting the frequency of the changes that parents may require; the washing will be charged at the ordinary price per dozen—children may be admitted for one quarter only, and such as are entered for a longer period, may nevertheless be removed at the expiration of any quarter.—The communication with Philadelphia will be frequent and easy by stage, and a house of entertainment kept by the farmer for the accommodation of persons having business at the school.

Reading, Writing, Arithmetic, English Grammar, Geography and the use of Maps and globes, will be taught, together with such other branches as the progress of the children and experience may render expedient. The school to open the first of the 5th month next. For further information apply to Edward Stabler, Alexandria, or to Plaister Land.

The subscriber offers for sale a FARM of 450 acres, being part of the tract whereon he resides in Fauquier county, Va. More than one-third of this Farm is in timber, and is land of the richest quality. The cleared land is in good heart, having had the advantage of a clover lay, and no soil being more susceptible of plaister improvement. He would also dispose of a lot of 59 acres, the whole of which is in timber, and is first rate tobacco and meadow land. On this lot has been erected well built saw mill, contiguous to which at the confluence of Broad and Mill runs) is a most valuable scite for a merchant mill. No property is better worth the attention of a person wishing to engage in such business. On the first mentioned farm are a commodious overseer's house, a new barn, stables, corn houses and negro quarters, and about 20 acres of timothy meadow.

600 acres of Land for sale.

THIS Tract is situated in Westmoreland county, Virginia, adjacent to Mr. Garnett Hunter's Plantation, and contiguous to the waters of the Potomac. The neighborhood is good—water excellent, and very desirable situations for building. A considerable proportion of the land is well timbered, besides a good deal of cedar, pine and other wood, sufficiently convenient to make it an object for those who may be disposed to send it to market—it is nearly equi-distant from Baltimore, Washington and Norfolk.

Any one wishing to purchase may apply to ROGER JONES,

Also, a very valuable LOT, containing 140 acres, being a part of the late Mr. John Turberville's tract—within 6 miles of Georgetown, 3 from the Little Falls Bridge, and near to the turnpike leading from thence to Wiley's, in Fairfax county, Va. A great proportion of this land is exceedingly well timbered, and that part which is not, is so recently cleared as to be in an active state for cultivation, and already in a productive condition.—For terms, apply to PHILIP C. JONES, esq. in Leesburg, Va. or to R. JONES.

Notice.

THE subscribers who are executors to the last will and testament of col. John Fitzgerald, and wishing to settle, close and adjust, the amount of his arrearages to the government, will dispose of by private contract that well known and valuable 57 acre Lot adjoining the city of Alexandria, (subject to the dower right of the widow) nearly whereon is the celebrated Federal Spring, and a portion of said Lot is on a commanding and beautiful eminence well adapted for a dwelling house. They will also sell the Distillery lot nearly adjoining Mr. Hunter's Ship Yard, with sundry articles thereunto appertaining, as a large Still-Worm, &c. They will also dispose of a half acre lot handsomely situated near the Academy and Mr. Cleon Moore's.

Application may be made either jointly or separately to the subscribers, who are empowered by the Comptroller of the Treasury to give any reasonable time for the payment of the purchase money on approved securities.

For Sale,

A valuable Farm in Jefferson county, Virginia.

BY virtue of a decree of the superior court of chancery for the Richmond district in Virginia, in a suit wherein the executors of General George Washington were plaintiffs, and Gerard Alexander, Thomas L. Alexander, (by Ludwell Lee, his appointed guardian in this case) Ludwell Lee, Richard H. L. Washington, John A. Washington, Bushrod C. Washington and Mary Lee Washington, defendants—will be exposed to sale to the highest bidder, for ready money, on the premises, on TUESDAY, the 15th day of September next, all that tract or parcel of Land, lying in Jefferson county, Virginia, on Bullskin, commonly called Rockhall, containing 540 acres, now in the occupation of John Sanders.

The above tract of land lies about 16 miles from Winchester, and about 6 miles from Charlestown, and on the main road leading from Winchester to Baltimore, city of Washington and Alexandria. It is well adapted to plaster and clover, and is in quality little inferior, if at all, to that of any farm in that rich valley. The improvements on it are a large two-story frame dwelling house, barn and other necessary out houses.—The water is limestone and of excellent quality.

Any person wishing to view the premises will be shown them upon application to John A. Washington or Bushrod C. Washington, living near the land.

Dr. Thomson's System of Chemistry.

IN FOUR VOLUMES OCTAVO.

THE preceding edition of Dr. Thomson's Chemistry, had acquired so much reputation both in England and upon the continent of Europe, that a new edition, comprising the new facts with which the science had been enriched, and the new views of the subject which extended knowledge had suggested as indispensable, was eagerly looked for by the scientific world. A new edition has accordingly appeared, wherein the former edition of five volumes has been condensed into four.

All the new discoveries, and all the new theories of Chemical Phænomena, have been considered and embraced in the present improved edition: so that it is indispensable to the chemical student, as presenting the only condensed view of the changes and alterations in chemical doctrine, which the discoveries of the last ten years have suggested. No apology therefore can be necessary for reprinting such a book in this country; for the press does not furnish a substitute for it. But, there is so much theoretical suggestion—so much abstruse calculation—so much fact of dubious authority—and so much dubious validity—that notes and illustrations are absolutely necessary, not merely to render the book more useful, but more intelligible.

Under these impressions, I thought fit to write notes in illustration (and sometimes in contradiction) of the work itself, rather than to make any abridgement of it. Those who wish to know the modern views of chemical science, must peruse it; and to very many who will be anxious to study it, elucidation will be necessary. I have endeavoured to supply these, to the best of my ability; regardless whether my own opinions are in dissonance or coincidence with those of my author; leaving to the reader to decide between us.

The work will be published, with notes and illustrations, in four volumes 8vo.

THOMAS COOPER, M. D.

CONDITIONS.

I. The work will be printed on a superfine paper, with a new small pica letter; and will be published early in the ensuing summer.

II. It will be illustrated with a number of cuts, of which several have been necessarily added to the London edition.

III. It will be delivered to subscribers at $12—to non-subscribers at $14, in boards. The London edition sells for $18.

James Kennedy & Son,

RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they have just received from LEE's MEDICINE STORE, No. 46, Maiden lane, New-York, a fresh supply of the following valuable MEDICINES:

Hamilton's Worm-destroying Loxenges,

Which have within sixteen years past cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or griping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The Teres or large round worm; the Ascarides or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitina or short flat white worm; and lastly, the Tænia or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food and sometimes voracious; purging with slimy and fœtid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; pains in the head and thighs and lowness of spirits; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent "the vomiting and purging of children"—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

The Restorative Powder for the Teeth and Gums.

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended

HAHN's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficatious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir,

A sovereign remedy for colds, obstinate coughs, asthmas, sore throats, catarrhs, and approaching consumptions.—To parents who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative,

Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of

Nervous Disorders	Violent cramps in
Consumptions	the stomach and
Lowness of spirits	back
Loss of appetite	Indigestion
Impurity of b'ood	Melancholy
Hysteric'l affection	Gout in the stomach
Inward weaknesses	Pains in the limbs
and debility	Relaxations, etc.

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard.

A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout, rheumatic gout, palsy, lumbago, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, etc. etc.

Lee's Ointment for the Itch.

Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety by pregnant women, or on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

Hahn's true & genuine German Corn Plaister.

An infallible remedy for corns, speedily removing them root and branch, without giving any pain.

The Genuine Persian Lotion,

So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent minerals, the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflamatory redness, scurfs, tetters, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

Hahn's genuine Eye Water,

A sovereign remedy for all diseases of the eyes, whether the effect of natural weakness or of accident.

Tooth Ache Drops.

The only remedy yet discovered which gives immediate and lasting relief in the most severe instances.

Lee's Infallible Ague and Fever Drops

For the cure of agues, remittent and intermittent fevers.
